Location

This villa is located on the most southwesterly tip of the beautiful area known as The Bukit – a limestone plateau rising sharply from the sea, fringed by steep cliffs and some of the most idyllic beaches in Bali. A tropical, equatorial climate means year-round balmy temperatures and, even in the rainy season, The Bukit – which is much drier than the rest of the island – is a reliable sun-trap.

Things to do

- Experienced surfers head to The Bukit Peninsula for its renowned surf breaks at Uluwatu, Dreamland, Padang-Padang, Impossibles and Suluban.
- Soar above the spectacular southern coastline of Bali on a paraglider. Paragliding courses, tandem and solo flights are available.
- Perched on a cliff 70m above the roaring Indian ocean, Uluwatu Temple - especially at sunset - is a sight not to be missed.
- Tee off on the splendid 18-hole Bali Golf and Country Club golf course at Nusa Dua, one of the best courses on the island.
- The long, clean white sands Nusa Dua Beach are great for swimming (safe for kids) and the place to go for all sorts of nautical activities, including jet skiing and wind surfing.
- The Bali Collection at Nusa Dua offers hassle-free shopping. Fashion, arts and crafts, departments stores, designer boutiques and even a supermarket are all here. Tourist markets near Mengiat Beach and the Melia Bali resort supply plenty of souvenirs. Otherwise, head to the many boutiques of Seminyak and Kuta.
